Dramatic Rescue By Copter Off California Coast

11 Rescued From Sinking Yacht Insist Craft Hit By Metal Object

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — The 11 survivors of the dramatic rescue from the sinking yacht Hattie D early Wednesday off the California coast insisted today that the craft was rammed by a metal object.

"I don't care how deep it was," said crewman Carl Johnson, "what holed us was steel and a long piece. There was no give to it at all." Johnson referred to the ocean's 7,800-foot depth in the area where the sinking occurred.

A Coast Guard helicopter, dipping between waves 30 feet high hoisted 10 men, the captain's wife and a German shepherd puppy from the pitching deck of the disabled Seattle yacht.

The Hattie D, a converted Navy search and rescue craft, sank 25 miles off the coast of Cape Mendocino.

There was speculation following the rescue that the yacht had struck a giant log. Other crewmen, however, agreed with Johnson.

"I think the Navy should start checking to see if they lost a submarine," Johnson added. "Maybe they ought to see if anyone else has lost one, too."

The sinking ended a trip that began Jan. 24 at Seattle. The yacht left Neah Bay on the Washington coast headed for California last Sunday. Early Wednesday, the Hattie D struck an object off the rugged coast of Cape Mendocino.

The boat had been chartered by Wallace Rutherford. She was skippered by Charles Orcutt, 60.

For five hours, the crew huddled in the main cabin and waited for help to come. Forty-mile-an-hour winds made it impossible to launch life boats.

"All of the crew were wearing life jackets," said crewman A. J. Raiffe, "but little good they'd have been in that sea."

"That copter was only 15 feet above us when it lowered the basket," said Dewey Orcutt, 21, son of the skipper.

"We figure we are lucky we got out alive," added the skipper.

Orcutt and his wife, Evelyn,

55, were among the first taken off. Rutherford was one of the next.

Others aboard were Bob Orcutt, another son of the skipper, and crewmen Ron Harmon, Mike Oom, Ben McClain and Raiffe.

The provision, which, along with the rest of the bill faces a tough time in the Senate, would prevent discrimination against Negroes by eating, lodging or entertainment establishments.

A 153-68 vote against an amendment by Rep. George Meader, R-Mich., that would have drastically limited the effect of the provision, climaxed a long day of frustration for Southern opponents and touched off the first real display of bitterness sectional feeling since debate started Friday.

Rep. Paul C. Jones, D-Mo., shouting, "The old steamroller is rolling," accused the leadership of shutting off attempts to alter the bill by putting up an amendment front against any and all amendments.

And Reps. Edward J. Patten, D-N.J., and George Andrews, D-Ala., engaged in a shouting argument sparked by Patten's remark that Southern arguments had been listening to all week "make me sick."

Andrews grabbed a second microphone and said he hoped Patten would support an amendment to pay the costs of moving Negroes from the South to New Jersey, and Patten assured him he would.

"We're glad to have your assets," he told Andrews. "We make use of our citizens in New Jersey. We'll take yours. We love our fellow men."

The GOP proposal would have wiped out World War II levies on furs, cosmetics, jewelry, watches and luggage including handbags, and would have cost the Treasury about $450 million a year.

To line up votes against it, Democratic leaders pledged a review of all federal excises later this season, starting in the House Ways and Means Committee.

After the vote on the retail excise taxes, the Senate bogged down in six hours of heated debate over an attempt to knock out the bill a section of public utility regulation.

Until that snag developed, managers of the bill had been confident they could bring the tax measure to a final vote by tonight.

On two close votes, the Senate decided to retain in the bill a House provision barring federal regulatory agencies from requiring utilities to pass along immediately to their customers tax savings achieved under the 1962 investment credit provision.

Elements of the 2nd Infantry Division and the 11th Air Assault Group were alerted Wednesday for movement into east Alabama within 30 minutes, sources at Columbus, Ga., said. The 11th employs helicopters almost exclusively.

Officially the Army neither confirmed nor denied the alert.

The alert was the first development of this nature under the administration of President Johnson who is faced with his first showdown on racial issues.

Issues already entered are: Southern Local School District: Renewal of an existing 4.4-mill levy and an increase of 4.4 mills to constitute a tax of 8.8 mills for current expenses.

The levy would be in effect two years. The board did not follow through with a former plan to ask a vote on a $250,000 bond issue for additional classrooms.

Senate's Passage Of Tax Cut Looms Tonight Or Friday

Legislature Faces Call To Return

Regular Session
Will End Tonight
In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Legislators' desks were almost clear of major business as they headed toward tonight's scheduled finish of their 30-day session. But there was growing doubt that it would really be the finish.

Unconfirmed reports of an impending State Supreme Court ruling in the legislative reapportionment case set off speculation that Gov. W. W. Barron might call an extraordinary session starting as soon as the regular session ends.

A decision overturning a major part of the 1963 act reallocating legislative seats would require passage of a new basis for election of legislators this year.

Contributing to the speculation was an opinion, made public yesterday, which Barron obtained from Attorney General C. Donald Robertson. Barron wanted to know how much advance notice a governor must give in calling an extraordinary session. There is no required minimum notice and it's up to the governor, Robertson replied.

Senate - House budget conferees, with fewer disagreements to iron out than usual, continued meeting in an effort to bring a compromise bill to the floor in time for passage before midnight. The disagreement is between a Senate bill calling for $155.86 million in operating outlays from general revenue and a $156.28-million House version.

Also pending was House action on a Senate amendment to the state officials' salary bill.

As passed previously by the House, the bill called for raises only for the seven members of the Board of Public Works.

Elements of the 2nd Infantry Division and the 11th Air Assault Group were alerted Wednesday for movement into east Alabama within 30 minutes, sources at Columbus, Ga., said. The 11th employs helicopters almost exclusively.

Legislation Already Has House Okay

Last Big Hurdle
Cleared In Action
On Excise Levy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's $11.6 billion tax cut bill moved today to the brink of final passage in the Senate.

Democratic leaders said if the bill wasn't passed by tonight, it almost certainly would be approved Friday. It has already cleared the House.

At least 10 to 12 amendments — some dealing with such controversial issues as reductions in the depletion allowances for oil and gas — remained to be acted on before a final vote.

The administration cleared its final big hurdle Wednesday with a 48-45 defeat of a Republican effort to repeal the 10 percent retail excise tax on four categories.

The GOP proposal would have wiped out World War II levies on furs, cosmetics, jewelry, watches and luggage including handbags, and would have cost the Treasury about $450 million a year.

To line up votes against it, Democratic leaders pledged a review of all federal excises later this season, starting in the House Ways and Means Committee.

Plans For Fire Drills

Set At County Home

LISBON — Supt. Russell Phillips of the County Home will have meetings today with his employees and residents of the home to plan for fire drills Friday.

The drills were set up Wednesday night when members of the Lisbon, Hanover Township, Guilford Lake and Winona fire departments, along with Al Ruetski, county Civil Defense director, met at the home.

After Friday's drills, an all-out fire drill will be held Saturday, with the fire departments of the four areas answering a mock call to the home. Residents also will be evacuated in the Saturday trial run.

The drills were set up by Phillips because of the serious fire recently at a northwestern Ohio nursing home.

Taft and the son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Brown, 57, in recent years has been one of Ohio's most successful vote getters. He has been secretary of state since 1951 and was elected two years ago to another four-year term.

The state also was set Wednesday for a five-way battle for Taft's at-large congressional seat. Two Republicans and three Democrats entered.

The Republicans are Rep. Oliver P. Bolton of Ohio's 11th District and William L. White of Mount Vernon, a businessman who made a futile bid for the GOP gubernatorial nomination in 1962.

Democrats in the at-large race are Cleveland attorney Robert E. Sweeney, unsuccessful candidate for attorney general two years ago; Richard D. Kennedy of Cleveland, a real estate man who lost to Taft in the 1962 general election, and State Sen. Charles J. Carney of Youngstown, a United Steelworkers official.

Nominations for four seats on the Ohio Supreme Court brought out a big field of judicial candidates.

Two of the contests are for full six-year terms. The other two are for unexpired terms.

Judge Charles B. Zimmerman, 72, of Springfield, a veteran of three decades on the bench, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for the full term starting Jan. 1, 1965. Seeking the Republican nomination for that term is Francis B. Douglass, law director of Aurora in Portage County and a former assistant Cleveland law director.

Judge Joseph D. Bryan, Columbus, former Board of Tax Appeals secretary, filed for the Democratic nomination and the right to oppose Judge C. William O'Neill, Republican, for the term starting Jan. 2, 1965. O'Neill is a former governor, attorney general and legislator.

Judge Lynn B. Griffith, 77, Warren, appointed to the high court by former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, seeks the Democratic nomination for the unexpired term ending Dec. 31, 1966. He is opposed for the party nomination by Merrill D. Brothman, Columbus, Board of Tax Appeals chairman.

Republicans seeking nomination for Griffith's seat are Appellate Court Judge Marshall M. Carlisle, Jackson; State Tax Commissioner Louis J. Schneidler Jr., Cincinnati; Municipal Court Judge Robert L. Harrington, Van Wert, and Clermont County Court Judge Louis J. Schwartz, Neville.

Judge Rankin M. Gibson, another DiSalle appointee, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for the unexpired court term ending Jan. 1, 1967. Lone entry for the Republican nomination is Appellate Court Judge Paul W. Brown, Youngstown.

Fourteen members heard Harold Clingerman, regional representative of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, as guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the East Liverpool board Tuesday evening at the Travelers Hotel.

A staff member of the Department of Board Services, traveling out of Chicago, Clingerman met earlier in the day with local realtors and officers.

Television Set Taken

In Entry Of Apartment

Raymond Adkins, occupant of an apartment on W. 7th St., told police about noon Wednesday a 19-inch portable television set worth $125 was stolen from his home sometime between Jan. 22 and yesterday.

A resident of the Mangano Apartments, Adkins said the intruder apparently used a key to open a padlock on his door, as there was no sign of a forcible entry.

Meanwhile, Central Service, Inc., 142 W. 7th St., told police an 18-x-38-inch window in a garage door on the south side of its building was broken by a vandal sometime between 9 p. m. Tuesday and 8:58 a. m. Wednesday.

Record Set In Sales

By Montgomery Ward

CHICAGO — Montgomery Ward reports that a year-end boom pushed sales to a record $1.5 billion for the fiscal year ended Jan. 29.

The 92-year-old mail order and retail firm says fourth-quarter sales of $451,301,000 were 10.6 per cent higher than a year ago, and included a record $89,943,000 for the four weeks in January — a 25.6 per cent increase.

For the year, the $1,510,138,000 volume represented a 5.3 per cent gain over the previous fiscal period.

Gets Grant, Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Urban Renewal Administration has announced a $12,430,391 grant and a $15,694,805 loan to Akron, Ohio, for the city to begin its Cascade urban renewal project. The 45-acre project area is in the northwest section of the central business district.

President Asked To Help Recover Jobless Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Johnson has been asked to help Ohio recover more than $1 million cut from the state's allocation in federal funds for unemployment compensation.

Gov. James A. Rhodes wrote the President Wednesday and asked him to confer with Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz on the matter.

"Would you please confer with Secretary Wirtz on the Ohio unemployment compensation allocation and see what steps can be taken to avoid cutting services to the public," the governor's letter said in part.

BUC Administrator Willard P. Dudley earlier made an unsuccessful trip to Washington in a bid to have the cut restored.

He said Ohio stands to receive $15.5 million to administer its jobless compensation program in the fiscal year ending next June 30, a cut of $1 million.

Dudley said the cut already has meant the layoff of 440 part-time employees and added that 310 full-time workers will be laid off by March 1.

Titles Total 341 On New Vehicles

LISBON — The Car Title Department of the clerk of courts office issued titles for 341 new vehicles in January, compared to 279 that month last year. Their valuation was $1,066,315.96.

Clerk Carl L. Stacey reported a total of $7,935.72 was paid the county treasurer last month in fees collected in Common Pleas Court and the title department.

The department received $4,392.70 last month with $3,305.10 going to the county and $1,087.60 to the state.

The clerk's office paid the state treasurer $3,322.52 from the collection of sales and use tax and $34,672.40 from the collection of the dealer's tax. The county received $383.77 for its one per cent poundage fee.

The title department issued 2,920 auto titles, 38 duplicate titles, 645 memorandums, three duplicate memorandums, 1,192 notations of liens, 1,079 cancellations of liens and 791 acknowledgments.

Sixty civil cases were filed during the month, Stacey said.

Bar's Operator Gives New Data On Incident

In an incident Wednesday at the Village Green tavern in which a Salineville man cut his hand on a broken ashtray, there were facts in the background that were not made part of the police report, Ralph Winters, proprietor of the bar, said today.

Police reported the 28-year-old man whose hand was injured was "very much intoxicated." Winters agreed, but said the man entered his place of business in an intoxicated condition. He said the man was refused service. Then another patron bought a drink and placed it in front of the man, Winters said.

When the drink was taken away from the man because of his condition, he deliberately slammed down the ashtray, resulting in the cuts on his hand, Winters said. Winters said he issued the explanation to make it clear an intoxicated person was not served a drink in his place of business — which would be a violation of state liquor regulations.

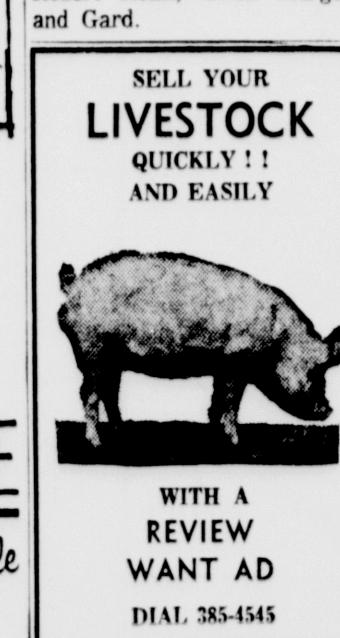

Max Gard's Speaker For Lisbon Coin Club

LISBON — The Lisbon Coin Club met Tuesday evening at the Democratic headquarters with 38 members and a guest attending.

Miss Connie Sowards was hostess for the refreshments.

Max Gard, antique dealer, was guest speaker, discussing "coins."

James Pappas was auctioneer. Prizes went to Sam Sowards Jr., John Dowd, Larry and Gary Toot, Mrs. Betty Mason, Robert Kelm, Gwen Sturgeon and Gard.

Hasty Action Could Be Harmful

When a lawyer finds himself defending a client against a charge that alleges a violation of law in vague, general terms but says nothing specific, he asks the court to require the prosecution to furnish a "bill of particulars," naming details, times, places and actions.

Perhaps that's the course the Board of Public Utilities should take in the current instance in which Councilman Floyd Murray has indicated by indirection that there's something wrong with the job the board is doing in administering the water and sewage departments.

WITHOUT CHARGING the unsalaried board with mismanagement or any other improper act, he has told his fellow councilmen that administration of the two departments should be returned to the safety-service director.

He said on two occasions — on Jan. 20 and again last Monday night — that Council might act "to place the Department of Public Utilities under the full control of a person of experience, honesty and integrity, one who is fully capable of giving good public service to our citizens."

At the same time, Mr. Murray said he was not accusing "anyone of dishonesty or inefficiency."

He added to his criticism of the Utilities Board last Monday by asserting that the board meets "in secret" and added that the press and the public should be advised in advance of its meetings.

The Board of Public Utilities has built up a creditable record for efficient, economical and non-political operation of the water department since it first was established in 1952 under an ordinance enacted by Council.

IRONICALLY, IT WAS the safety-service director who led the way in calling for establishment of the utilities board, primarily to take the water department out of politics. For generations, it had been a notorious political football, subject to wide variations in policy with every change in administration.

Before Civil Service was instituted for most city employees in 1946, it was taken for granted virtually all of the water plant jobs — as well as those in the line crew — would change hands when Republicans succeeded Democrats, or vice versa.

There was no continuity in general policy under those conditions. Operations were hand-to-mouth in many instances.

The late Lawrence S. Bloor, an accountant by profession, was the director who worked for the change in the administrative setup. He was backed by former Mayor Arnold W. Devon.

After the sewage treatment plant was erected in 1958, its administration was in

Why Johnny Flunks Out

Everybody talks about education. No one does much about it, though.

A few weeks ago, a survey among Ohio State University freshmen revealed many of them thought their instruction to be inadequate. It was not a reassuring finding.

A followup survey among Ohio State instructors discloses that those who teach freshmen are similarly critical of their students. Two points loom large.

One is that too many freshmen lack all qualifications for college study, as far as preparation is concerned. This is not surprising; it shows up in the shockingly high flunk-out rate in state universities. But it is interesting to hear instructors' opinions that many students lack not only knowledge but attitude. That is the second point that looms large in the survey.

Purely Personal

My national pride does not burst at the seams over Olympic Games, but my enthusiasm for the young athletes is unrestrained. Since that was the purpose stated by Baron Pierre de Coubertin, who revived the Olympic Games in 1896, I cannot be accused of lacking patriotism.

Just as my sympathy lay with the Ethiopians when Mussolini went after their spearmen with machineguns, I was thrilled by the report that a bowman in the Congo brought down a helicopter with an arrow. The bow and arrow won't take the place of The Bomb, but primitivism still has its place.

I wish I could be as sure that the Ranger contraption hit the moon as the boys who spent $28 million of our money on the chance they wouldn't miss it.

A paragraph here a week ago about Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy showed me who my friends were. They wasted no time telling me she had dinner with Marlon Brando in order to arrange a TV show for the Kennedy Memorial Library. They did not let me linger in doubt.

I do not believe my great good government could have fouled up any worse in the Bay of Pigs fiasco and the decision to get bogged down in Viet Nam if it had taken a full course in advanced stupidity. These were fitting additions to the list of military scandals that includes Custer's Last Stand and Pearl Harbor.

Like flies and ants showing up at a picnic, agitators and Commies have shown up in the Cleveland school disorders, proving once more that the main responsibility of government is to avert disorders in the first place. There always will

Woodrow Wilson's Ideal Seen Nearly Forgotten

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Forty years ago this week — on Feb. 3, 1924 — Woodrow Wilson died at his home in Washington. The anniversary has passed almost unnoticed. Yet it was a notable event in world history, for it not only marked the demise of a great president but called widespread attention to the decline of American idealism as a moral force in the world.

President Wilson had failed at Paris to convince the pragmatic leaders of Europe that the time had come to put idealism above commercialism, and he also had failed at home to convince the voters that a League of Nations needed American participation. Premier Clemenceau of France was almost as intransigent then as Gen. de Gaulle is today, but somewhat more flexible at least in supporting the League of Nations concept.

The diplomacy of those days was not far different from what it is today — each government in Europe was primarily concerned with what it could get in the way of territory and what financial benefits could be derived from colonies or possessions.

In vain, Mr. Wilson had cried out for the principle of self-determination of peoples. But, in the few instances where independence was granted, a selfish imperialism soon took it away.

THERE STILL ARE some persons in the press and in public life who remember vividly those troublesome times. Herbert Hoover, for instance, who had served as food administrator in Europe under Mr. Wilson and for eight years as member of the Cabinet before he was elected president in 1928, wrote honor steady to a common end and prefer the interests of mankind to any narrow interest of their own.

"A steadfast concert for peace can never be maintained except by a partnership of democratic nations. No autocratic government could be trusted to keep faith within it or observe its covenants. It must be a league of honor"

BUT TODAY'S "liberal" argues for "peaceful co-existence," commercial trade with aggressor nations, abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine and surrender to what is called "realistic facts." This phrase was often heard in connection with the appeasement concept that brought on World War II.

As for "self-determination" of peoples, the "liberal" politicians of today — who are interested, for example, in winning the Negro vote in the United States — may ardently espouse the cause of independence among the African nations, but they have just about forgotten the captive peoples in Eastern Europe, as well as the people in China, whom the United States help.

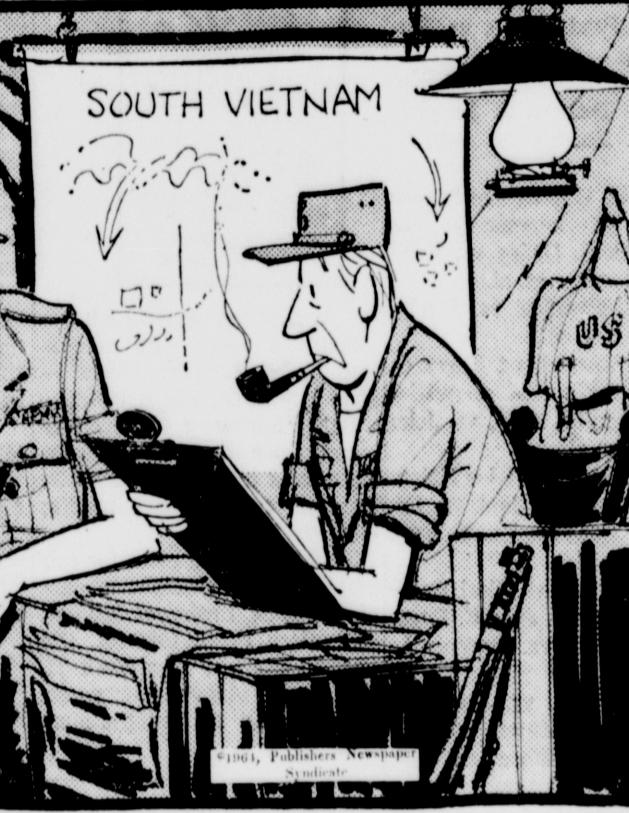

Nowadays, however, the government in Moscow is accepted as a partner in the United Nations by this country as well as by the major countries of the Western World, and shortly Red China, another Communist dictatorship, probably will be admitted to the international organization.

All this is supposed to come under the heading of "practicality" in present-day diplomacy. Those who reflect the true liberalism and morality of yesterday are labelled as "reactionaries" or "war-mongers."

AS GREAT MEN have passed into history, their words and deeds have often been forgotten. Even the lapse of four decades sometimes fails to put into proper perspective the achievements of a statesman in world affairs. For America's role in the world, so abruptly altered in 1917, was a departure from tradition. The story, moreover, is still unfinished.

There is as yet no monument in Washington memorializing Woodrow Wilson. A small bridge across the Potomac has been named in his honor, but the bridge across the international seas of human evil is still not on the drawing boards of present-day government.

It may take another 40 years before public opinion realizes that free peoples acting together — not autocratic governments — must shape the destiny of the world. Indeed, the soldiers who died in two world wars and in Korea believed they were fighting for American ideals — for a world of true freedom, for the liberation of enslaved peoples, and not for the aggrandizement of master politicians in any country.

The Government Is Stabilizing Some, Though—This Coup D'Etat Went Much Smoother Than The Last One.'

Texas Labor Ponders Connally Backing

By VICTOR RIESEL
AUSTIN, Tex.

Lyndon Johnson has been trying to end a political revolution — as well as south — of the border. Virtually unknown to the rest of the nation, a quiet, behind-the-scenes rebellion against him has spread through this big state's labor leadership. Many of the union chiefs, who have a following of some 375,000 members, want to oust Mr. Johnson's friend and political colleague, Gov. John Connally.

The governor, badly wounded by rifle fire while riding with the late President Kennedy, is up for re-election this November. Many phone calls from President Johnson and White House troubleshooters, union men have for some time been preparing to fight Gov. Connally in the May 2 primaries.

Their personal choice has been young Don Yarborough, a liberal Houston attorney.

There would have been louder opposition to the governor — and more overt anti-Connally organization — if the union chiefs had not felt it was in bad taste to launch an open barrage against the man who was hit by an assassin's bullet.

They lack self-discipline. Many freshmen know nothing about organizing their time. They goof off and flunk out — even the ones capable of doing college work in some instances.

Everybody talks about education . . .

One thing that can be done about it is to make sure high school students thinking of going to college learn about self-discipline and participation before they risk failure in college.

Every time I see another picture of Marina Oswald, I keep listening for someone to drop the other shoe in the Oswald case. I personally feel that there is another shoe and it will land with a nerve-shattering thump.

with the unionists could spill over onto Lyndon Johnson and cost him key blocs of votes in the tight presidential race.

John Kennedy took the state from Dick Nixon by a little more than 46,000 votes. Some 22,000 votes were cast for the Prohibition and Constitution parties' candidates.

We will know exactly how strong this anti-Connally sentiment is in a few days. The AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) will hold a three-day meeting starting February 11 at the Inn of the Six Flags at Arlington, five miles east of Fort Worth.

They charge he has not helped them get a workmen's compensation act, which is high in their list of demands.

They state that weekly unemployment insurance payments are too low. They insist that the governor was not "really" with them in the fight against the national poll tax. The labor men are against the state poll tax and say that Mr. Connally is for it.

They want the anti-violence and right-to-work laws repealed. The anti-violence act puts still penalties on those found guilty of picket line actions which result in scuffling or worse.

Among themselves they are saying bluntly that Gov. Connally is not their kind of politicalman. But just how much they will say publicly depends on just how much they are willing to buck Lyndon Johnson publicly after all the private pressure.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

We would like to commend The Review for its adequate coverage of Monday's City Council meeting.

Due to the lack of interest and attendance concerning Council meetings, our newspaper is the only means of bringing such matters to the attention of the public.

For the past few decades East Liverpool has been slipping backward instead of moving forward and as long as the mayor and the City Council are unable to work together, we will continue to do so.

The lack of interest in our city's progress is shameful. We were amazed to find that when it was announced that Bobbie Brooks was not going to establish a pilot plant here, we were the only citizens interested enough to ask why.

It is unbelievable to think that with as many people as we have in Liverpool who are looking for decent jobs, none of them even asked why when we lost 400 to 500 of them.

Defeated. Not only was the Chester Community Park levy defeated Wednesday, but many enthusiastic civic-minded people also were defeated.

While some sit with a suppressed smile or confidential smirk, knowing they have been successful in their efforts to defeat the park issue, others — those who are concerned whether or not Chester improves — are worrying, questioning, wondering.

Chester is an old community with old ideas; there are few high school graduates staying here and fewer graduates returning here from college. Why should they? This is a decade of progress in most towns, but it seems many Chesterites are markedly impeding progress.

Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool, seeking a second term.

Unopposed incumbents on the Democratic ticket are: Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana, seeking a second full term; Treasurer Vincent C. Judge of Lisbon, asking a sixth term, and Dr. William A. Kolozsi of Salem, seeking a second term.

The unopposed GOP candidate for prosecuting attorney is Atty. J. Warren Bettis of Salineville, a member of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and a former assistant county prosecutor. Following through on a statement he made earlier, Prosecutor G. William Brokaw of East Liverpool, Republican, did not enter for another term.

The Democrats' unopposed candidate for prosecutor is Atty. Jack Kuhlman, village solicitor at Columbiana.

In the November election, Stacey will be opposed by Dean Rose of Lisbon R. D. 5, who has no opposition for the GOP nomination for the court clerk's post. Rose is president of Center Township trustees and operator of an excavating company.

Judge's opponent in November for the treasurer's post will be R. Dale Miller of Lisbon R. D. 5, the unopposed GOP candidate. Miller is a hatchery operator and former accountant.

Republicans have no candidate for coroner, so Dr. Kolozsi is assured of a new term. It is the only blank spot on either ballot.

Unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Common Pleas judge is County Judge Herbert Arfman of Leetonia. He presides in the court at East Palestine.

The Democrats' unopposed candidate for sheriff is Edward W. Mallery, retired head of the State Highway Patrol post at Lisbon, now safety director in Salem.

John Ursu of Salem, a self-employed engineer-surveyor, is the unopposed Democratic candidate for engineer. He sought the same post unsuccessfully four years ago.

In the November election, Brian's opponent for the recorder's job will be John P. Wargo of Summitville. Unopposed for the Democratic nomination in May, Wargo is a Franklin Township trustee and an employee of the county auditor's office.

The fields for county offices total 15 Democrats and 14 Republicans. There are eight Republicans and seven Democrats seeking district posts.

The board also listed 164 Democrats and 123 Republicans as candidates for central committeemen. The committeemen are elected in each of the 165 precincts to serve on the respective county committees.

The overall total of candidates is 330, counting district, county and precinct committees.

The Election Board will meet Monday at 2:30 p. m. to pass on the sufficiency of all candidates' petitions filed before the deadline. It also will award contracts for ballots, poll books and other supplies for the primaries.

Here's a complete list of the county candidates:

3 Men Get Sentences

In Illegal Use Of Cars

Three southern Columbiana County men were sentenced to County Jail terms Wednesday by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard at Lisbon on charges of operating a vehicle without the consent of the owners.

Charles Anderson, 34, and Kenneth Robert Kirker, 20, both of Salineville R. D., were given 60-day terms on charges they took a car belonging to George Ward of Sebring Dec. 18 while it was parked outside Miner's Tavern in Kensington.

Ronald L. Adkins, 18, of East Liverpool was sentenced to 30 days on a charge he stole a car owned by Edward B. Martin on Nov. 3.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a sophomore in high school and my steady is a junior. I moved to this city at the beginning of my freshman year and went absolutely scoopie-dooby-do over Brad.

He didn't pay any attention to me at first. When he finally asked me for a date I was psychotic with joy.

Brad has a big allowance and has given me a lot of gifts, like a little camera, an FM radio, a life-sized stuffed poodle with a rhinestone collar and a heart locket. Last week he gave me a bracelet with blue stones. I almost died from excitement.

Yesterday his mother phoned my mother and said Brad accidentally had given me her very expensive bracelet by mistake and that if I would give it back she would replace it with a less valuable one.

I'm shocked, hurt, humiliated and disgusted but I still like Brad loads. My father took the bracelet over there last night but what should I do about Brad?—LITTLE GIRL, BIG PROBLEM.

Dear Girl: Give everything back—including your introduction to Brad. He sounds like a spoiled kid with no integrity and poor judgment. Who needs him?

Losers To Boob Tube

Dear Ann: Millions read your column. You have no idea the wide influence you wield. Please, Ann, will you say something about the rudeness of people who insist on keeping their TV sets on when company arrives. If we had wanted to watch TV we would have stayed at home in front of our set.

We have some dear friends who will watch anything that moves. It's impossible to carry on a conversation with these folks, yet they actually beg us to visit them at least twice a week. When we arrive at their home the TV set is always on full blast and it stays on throughout our visit.

I'm sure millions of people would appreciate a word from you on this subject.—HOARSE FROM YELLING OVER JOHN-NY CARSON.

Dear Hoarse: If you are drop-ins, you deserve the "treatment." Invited guests, however, should not have to compete with the boob tube when they arrive at the home of friends.

Assuming that you belong to the latter category, determine when the invitation is extended if they intend to talk or look at TV. If they tell you they want to talk then insist on hooking their eyeballs to the screen take your leave—and make your company hard to come by in the future.

To Each, His Own

Dear Ann: Should a 14-year-old girl have to share a bedroom with her 10-year-old brother?

Our house is small. We have only two bedrooms. Mom and Dad have the big bedroom. I had the small bedroom until six months ago. My brother used to sleep in the dinette til Mom decided he was inconveniencing the family, so she moved his bed into my room.

Dad plans to add another bedroom next year, so my mother keeps telling me to be patient. I just hate this arrangement because my brother's bed took up the space where my dresser used to be. Now I have to go in the dining room every time I want a piece of underwear. Whenever I dress, I have to go into the tiny bathroom.

Am I selfish as my mother says?—SLEEPLESS NIGHTS AND MISERABLE DAYS.

Dear Sleepless and Miserable: I vote in favor of moving your brother's bed back into the dinette. Apparently the family stood it for several years, so a little while longer won't kill anybody.

A 14-year-old girl is no baby, she's a young lady. And a young lady should not have to share a bedroom with her 10-year-old brother.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fatigue—A Common Pressure Malady

"My candle burns at both ends, it will not last the night. But, ah, my friends and oh, my foes, it gives a lovely light." Everyone enjoys the gaiety of Edna St. Vincent Millay's whimsical verse. However, that may have been a hectic philosophy even for Ida Jean Kain that it might well be a set-up for ulcers. Certainly in this pressure age we need a more replenishing way of life.

When we burn the candle at both ends often, the sparkle wanes and all we have left is fatigue, a meaningful word for these times, denoting a state of anxiety and unbearable pressure. Tension is today's gremlin.

Mele Expecting Big Things From Allen This Year

By SAM MELE

Minnesota Twins

QUINCY, MASS. (AP)—I can see some bright spots ahead for the Twins after a disappointing 1963 season for a number of our players who figured so prominently to carry our ball club to the top.

Last year injuries hurt us but other clubs had those, too. Besides injuries, lack of depth in spots, certainly hampered our chances to be serious contenders. We finished third but were 13 games behind.

Reason for my optimism is this: We expect Harmon Killebrew, Camilo Pascual, Jim Kaat, Dick Stigman and young Jim Roland to be in top shape once again.

True, the Twins led the league in home runs but we had our share of strikeouts, too. Consistent hitting is a must if we are to achieve expectations. Power hitters like Killebrew, Bob Allison and Jimmie Hall have the ability to hit for higher average and still maintain their slugging feats.

An inadequate defense hurt us last year. The team finished eighth in fielding in '63 compared to second in '62. We've got to improve that department in '64.

There could be a few changes in our defensive and offensive line-ups for the coming season because of the showing of a promising young outfielder, Tony Oliva. A left-handed hitting standout at Dallas-Fort Worth in '63, Tony has hit all types of pitching in the minors, as well as big league pitching in late-season appearance with the Twins in 1962 and '63.

Rich Rollins at third and Zoilo Versalles at short give us a solid left side, in the infield. Bernie Allen, the second baseman, had an off season last year. I'm expecting big things from Bernie this year because of his natural ability and his desire to play.

Hall had a tremendous season and could have been chosen Rookie of the Year. He set an American League first year record with 33 home runs. Killebrew, of course, led the league with 45 homers and Allison hit 35. Earl Battey gives us strength behind the plate, as his 84 RBI and 26 home runs show.

The pitching staff should be strong—if it stays healthy. Pascual, Stigman, Kaat, Roland and Jim Perry figure as the starters. Rookie Gary Dotter and holdovers Lee Stange, Bill Pleis and Garry Roggenkirk merit consideration. Bill Dailey is the bullpen ace. We picked up Bill Fischer to help him.

I said earlier, the prospects for 1964 are bright. All we have to do is put our potential to use.

South Side Routs Loop Foe, 56-29

South Side got off to a slow start but once in high gear rolled past South Fayette Wednesday night on the South Side floor for a 56-29 victory.

The game was one rescheduled from earlier in the season when snow forced postponement.

South Side trailed 10-5 at the end of the first quarter but quickly went on top 22-16 at halftime and led 35-26 at the end of three periods.

Dawson Fraiser poured in 23 points and Doug Berninger connected for 13 to pace the Rams. Jim Hardesty's 14 points led South Fayette.

The South Fayette reserves won, 51-44.

South Side now stands 4-3 in league play and 8-8 overall.

Youngstown Voted Ninth In Cage Poll

By The Associated Press
Pan American, Tex. is flying high in The Associated Press small-college basketball poll Thursday on the strength of four victories last week that boosted its record to 17-3.

In the past two weeks, during which they made a successful tour of the East, the Texans have climbed from ninth place to third in the balloting by a special regional panel of eight writers and broadcasters.

The Texas team collected 51 points in the latest vote. Evansville, Ind. remained in first place with 71 points followed by Grambling, La. with 68. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second etc.

Evansville and Grambling each won two games last week, lifting the Aces' record to 14-2 and the Grambling Tigers to 18-1.

Wittenberg and Youngstown joined Pan American among the teams on the way up. Wittenberg climbed one place to sixth after defeating Heidelberg. Youngstown, which was not in the Top Ten a week ago, moved up to ninth although its 16-game unbeaten streak was ended by Central State of Ohio.

Kentucky Wesleyan, 12-3, dropped from third to fourth although it beat Wabash 86-59. Hofstra, victor over Rider and Kings Point for a 14-3 slate, held fifth place.

Washington of Missouri fell one place to seventh after losing to Valparaiso. Unbeaten Assumption held eighth following its 11th victory, a 76-70 defeat of St. Michael's, Vt.

Western Carolina slumped from ninth to 10th despite three victories last week. Fresno State dropped out of the first

ELHS Must Stop High Scoring Coulter

Potters Seek 3rd In Row At Toronto; Niles To Invade Saturday

Outside of Weirton's fabulous Ron Williams the hottest player in the Ohio Valley this season is Toronto's Tom Coulter who will be facing the East Liverpool Potters Friday night at Toronto.

The Red Knights are one of two foes East Liverpool will meet this week. Niles with a 5-10 record, will be invading Memorial Auditorium Saturday night.

Victories Friday and Saturday would put the Potters on a four-game winning streak to take into the last part of the season with only Martins Ferry and Weirton remaining after this weekend.

Coulter, a definite All-Ohio candidate, who gained honorable mention last season, has already surpassed a career record at Toronto.

He only stands 5-10, but the red-headed whiz is a deadly shot from about anywhere on the floor. Coulter of course has been the main factor for Toronto's 10-4 record this season.

Going into the East Liverpool game, Coulter has scored 325 points in 14 games for an average of 23 per contest.

In his fourth year as a regular, he has scored 1,286 points in the four seasons. Midway through this season he passed Paul Bucey's previous all-time mark of 1,108. Bucey played at Toronto from 1946-48.

Women Are Winning Gold Medals For Russians In Winter Games

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Editor

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—

The women are winning the gold medals for Russia at the ninth Winter Olympics.

The men are having trouble.

And two women in particular are doing most of the Soviet gold medal magic.

Russia has eight gold medals with the 12-day Olympics two-thirds over. The closest Soviet competitors, France and Finland, each have three.

Americans are finding consolation in the fact that the United States and Russia are tied in gold medals, one to one, if only the men are counted.

Six of the Soviet gold medals are in women's events. Lidia Skoblikova alone collected four in the speed skating. Claudia Coulter scored 222 points as a freshman, followed with 373 his sophomore season and 366 last year. He is almost a sure bet to go over 400 points before the season ends.

His best night was against Beaver Local when he hooped 32. He also hit 30 against Wintersville. The worst night this season came last Friday against Weirton when the Riders chose to double team him holding the Red Knight ace to 12 points.

Coach Paul Kalivoda's team, after splitting in the first two games, went on to win nine straight but in the past two weeks have gone cold again losing three in a row.

Wellsville ended Toronto's long win streak with a 80-72 victory then Weirton, with Williams scoring 41 points, topped the Knights 78-51. Wintersville made it three straight defeats, 67-59.

While Coulter does most of the shooting, the second leading scorer and outstanding rebounder for the Knights is Paul Saxton a 6-2 senior. Saxton is very aggressive around the boards and has been averaging about 13 points per game.

Bob Urich and Dave Ralston a couple of 6-footers who won letters last season, will be in the starting lineup. For the fifth starter, it's a tossup between Bill Hutchinson 5-11 senior or Bob Kelly a 6-3 junior.

A Niles team, which started the season with inexperienced cagers, has won five games while losing 10. In the Big 8 Conference the Red Dragons are 1-4.

Niles is one team which Alliance defeated and East Liverpool whipped the Aviators soundly.

Coach Joe Bassett, in his 19th season at Niles, has a small squad with Jim Jennings 6-1, the tallest performer. The leading scorer for the Dragons is Jim Berline, 5-11, who has tallied 149 points in 14 games for a 10 point average. Dave Allen, 6-foot, Bob Laricca 5-6 and Henry Gover 5-8 round out the starting lineup. All five starters are seniors.

Niles on its last outing defeating Youngstown Rayen, 70-60.

Pettit Four Points Shy Of All-Time Hoop Mark

The NBA brass doubtless are shining up a new trophy for Bob Pettit's mantle at home.

Walt Bellamy and Rod Thorn combined for 54 points to offset Pettit's 30 as Baltimore won 113-106. The Bullets' victory, helped by Si Green's eight important points in the last five minutes, knocked St. Louis out of second place in the tight Western Division race.

The Los Angeles Lakers took over the runner-up spot, one game behind San Francisco and half a game before St. Louis, by drubbing the Detroit Pistons 111-85 to snap a six-game losing streak.

Elgin Baylor starred as the Lakers broke open a close game in the third period. He scored 37 points, grabbed 17 rebounds and played a spectacular floor game.

Ray Scott led the tailend Pistons with 26 points.

Ranked Duke, Villanova Remain On Victory Path

By TED MEIER

This is a memorable year for many college basketball coaches.

Kentucky's veteran Adolph Rupp notched his 700th career victory last Monday. Duke's Vic Bubas reached his 100th milestone Wednesday night.

Hank Iba of Oklahoma State and Slats Gill of Oregon State are next in line to celebrate.

Iba needs only three more victories to hit the 700 mark, Gill needs eight for his 600 milestone.

Denison traveled to Ohio Wesleyan only to have its nine-game winning streak snapped by the Battling Bishops 64-57. The victory gave Wesleyan a 6-2 Ohio Conference mark and kept them in the race for the loop title.

The Big Red's OC record evened at 4-4.

In other Ohio Conference games, Akron romped over Wooster 105-77, and Mount Union beat Heidelberg 60-51.

One game was played in the Mid-Ohio Conference. Defiance's Yellowjackets defeated Bluffton 92-80.

Villa Madonna downed Findlay 83-69 at Covington, Ky., and Ohio Northern romped over Olli-Vert, Mich., 85-54 in other games.

City Receives $36,729 For Withheld Tax

The city received a total of $36,729 in withholding taxes from employers through the close of business Tuesday, representing income taxes held back from employees' wages in the last quarter of 1963. Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson said today.

The collection is up $8,132 from the $28,597 that had been collected in withholding taxes on the same date in 1963, covering the last quarter of 1962, the income tax office head said.

Wilkinson said the $36,729 represents withholding taxes paid to the city by 527 employers for the period October-December. The deadline was Friday.

Forty-seven more employers who have not paid the withholding taxes will receive delinquent notices through the mail. The notices will be sent either today or Friday, Wilkinson said.

East Liverpool has a total of 574 employers with one or more persons on the payroll who are required to withhold taxes from wages and salaries.

Meanwhile, Wilkinson reminded that persons who file individual returns must furnish final reports on 1963 earnings not later than April 15.

"I realize the deadline seems far away, but those who file will avoid the rush," Wilkinson said.

In filing a final return, the taxpayer must furnish a statement of his earnings for the full year. That's form W-2, which employers make up for their workers for federal income tax purposes.

Workers also may present their last paycheck stub of the year if it shows a cumulative total of earnings, Wilkinson said. Paychecks at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. show the cumulative totals.

Individual returns are required principally from East Liverpool residents who work outside the city. No reports are required from persons whose entire income is subject to withholding.

'Dropout' Survey Here Reveals Rate Too High

Only 60 of every 100 students entering first grade in East Liverpool schools graduate from high school, a "dropout" rate considerably higher than the state average, the Board of Education has been informed.

A detailed study presented by Asst. Supt. George Hargraves showed one encouraging factor — a marked increase in the "survival percentage" for the last three classes.

Hargraves' comprehensive look at the dropout problem in city schools identified the type of youngster who is the potential dropout and listed several tables showing the percentage of loss between the first and 12th grades and between the ninth and 12th grades.

THE SURVEY covered the last nine classes graduating from East Liverpool High School, starting in 1955, and traced them back 12 years to show the number entering first grade.

To obtain an accurate picture, the assistant superintendent explained he included youngsters who entered first grade at St. Aloysius Parochial School and eliminated Beaver Local tuition students during the years they attended the high school. He conceded that a possible weakness might be the assumption that the gain and loss of students to and from other districts balanced out over the study period.

In Ohio, 95 of every 100 students who enter first grade entered ninth grade, 69 were graduated and 23 enrolled in college. The East Liverpool study shows only 84 of 100 entering ninth grade, 60 graduating and 11 entering college.

THE PERIOD between the start of the sophomore and junior years is the most critical period, Hargraves said, noting that 20.5 per cent of the sophomores quit school.

The averages show the school loses 13.3 per cent of the students enrolled as freshmen, while less than 9 per cent of the juniors quit.

"Dropouts are not a senior high problem," Hargraves said, explaining the evidence of dropouts appears in junior high school. However, establishment of the junior high program keeps youngsters in school a year longer, he added.

The 152 students had an average IQ of 90, so the school system is not losing many students of high ability. The average IQ ranges from 95 to 105. However, five boys with IQs of over 110 were among those who quit.

"We must seriously study the high school program and possible inclusion of programs that will be more beneficial to young people who are dropping out of school," Hargraves said.

The average age of the dropouts was 17 years and 3 months, with boys averaging a little more than 17½ and the girls about 17.

Forty-nine of the group were over 18, the legal compulsory age, 54 were between 17 and 18 and 40 were between 16 and 17. Five were under 16. Exceptionally young students are not being lost when it is realized that students may leave at 16 if they have employment and parental consent, the assistant superintendent said.

Why did they quit? The students offered a wide variety of reasons, but they not always are the true reasons, Hargraves pointed out.

Twenty-seven of the boys entered the service, 23 were average and 20 quit on work certificates.

Twenty-three of the girls quit for marriage, 21 received work certificates and 21 were over age.

The students had earned an average of 6.4 credits toward graduation when they left school, which would be about the number earned by most students midway in their sophomore and junior years.

The loss after the start of the junior year is considerably less.

To discover "who" was the dropout, Hargraves studied the record of every ELHS dropout between July 1, 1960, and June 30 last year to determine some basic facts.

With 152 students quitting school, the report surprisingly showed the dropouts were divided almost equally, with 75 boys and 77 girls leaving.

The largest number of dropouts took place when students failed to return in September. The next highest percentage was in January, which is about the time the second semester begins, and the third highest is in October, about a month after school has opened.

THE PARENTAL background offered a wide variety, but nearly all are in the skilled or semi-skilled areas.

The 152 students had an average IQ of 90, so the school system is not losing many students of high ability. The aver-

Black and white films include

"Constitution of the United States," 22; "Drive Defensive," 11; "Geography of the Southwestern States," 11; "Heart Disease—Its Major Causes," 11; "Medieval Guilds," 21; "Meaning of Adolescence," 16; "The Real West," 54; "Shep—The Farm Dog," 11; "The Soviet Challenge (Industrial Revolution in Russia)," 26, and "President's Cabinet," 10.

A BREAKDOWN showed 44 had earned up to 4 credits, 61 had received from 4½ to 8, 34 were between 8½ and 12 and 13 were over 12, which would indicate they were past their junior year.

However, nearly 50 per cent had grades of D or lower and another 32 per cent had low C grades.

The withdrawals significantly participated in few extra-curricular activities such as athletics, music and clubs. Nearly 89 per cent or 135 students participated in no activities. 13 participated in one and three had two extra activities.

Hargraves said the study suggests student participation encourages them to remain in school.

The dropouts also had poor attendance records, with 66 per cent having over five absences a year.

"The importance of the economic and social problems caused by the continued high dropout rate cannot be over-emphasized," he concluded.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

The Days Of Fear And Trembling

One dark still night this winter, after the 48 hours of snow and wind had left their great white drifts on the wharfs below Brooklyn Heights, a 9-year-old boy accompanied me on a walk.

The huge white dunes around us had a vague glow to them, lit by the million lights of the skyscrapers across the river. It was a night for the telling of bad dreams.

KEVIN TOLD, at exhaustive length, a dream he'd had about a space vehicle that had got out of control and had come down on a hostile planet. The natives, great vegetable-like blobs with voracious appetites, gave Kevin's spacemen a tumultuous welcome and, at dream's end, a violent and fiery sendoff.

Now it came my turn; but I begged out, because I never remember dreams and because the tall story that flashed across my mind perhaps would be too terrifying under the circumstances.

The boy had shown me where some friends of his had buried a dead pigeon beneath the snow on some church property at our corner. There was a sudden vision of that pigeon growing, say, to the size of a stork and then flying, broken-winged, down the silent street to pay its respects to the one-time pallbearers.

NOW THAT, I submit, could be a pretty scary story — the sort of tinger another generation grew up with in radio's "The Witch's Tale" and "Lights Out." By comparison, today's pneumatic toads from outer space are strictly junior varsity.

It wasn't many weeks ago that a glossy and unsatisfying NBC series called "Hollywood and the Stars" gave us a few fleeting glimpses at the movie monsters of yore and our own Hollywood contemporaries. From Count Dracula, the Werewolf of London, Mr. Hyde, an ambulatory hand called "The Beast With Five Fingers" and the creations of Drs. Caligari and Frankenstein, we went to such current bugaboos as space creatures, Atomic Age dinosaurs and teen-aged vampires; and how the monstrous have fallen!

IN RECENT YEARS, only Alfred Hitchcock's "Psycho" has given us that prickly feeling at the back of the neck and raised the nation's electric bill. How? In rain, darkness and solitude, Hitchcock allowed an unspeakable thought to cross our minds ("Oh no, it couldn't be!") and then had our worst dream come true ("Yes, indeed, it's so!"). He did it without benefit of ter-the scientific, the futuristic or the occult. The awful mystery was black, sudden and personal.

On "The Outer Limits" a few nights back, this lower-middle-class "Twilight Zone" offered us some of the elements of the old horror tale: a little country architecture out of "The Old Dark House," a mysterious disappearance out of "The Cat and the Canary," a forsaken bride now grown old like the Miss Havisham of "Great Expectations" (here played by Miriam Hopkins), and a young bride and groom spending their wedding night in the cobwebby upper reaches of Miss Hopkins' old manse.

THE GROOM went off on an errand, as you'd expect — just long enough to allow his bride to approach that little of never-opened wedding presents from 40 years ago. Pretty spooky, huh?

But as we viewers already knew, a warty, slithery monster inhabited the largest of the boxes, giving off the vibrant, menacing noises that resound every Monday night in this series.

The dark room, in its old-fashioned way, could make the heart beat faster; but the beeping, glowing, one-eyed creature from another world dispelled whatever concession of suspended disbelief we may have made and tossed out the fear and trembling with it.

The yarn was silly, nothing more.

MAYBE, in the long run, it just as well. We don't want our children crying out in the night or going through life distrustful of pigeons, cats and dark motels.

Still, I miss the creaking-door, face-at-the-window, hand-at-the-latch thrills the peddlers of gooseflesh gave us in an age that was more innocent and somehow more fun.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MEYERS

Children Can Be Kind In Amazing Ways

We are inclined as parents to notice the unkind and selfish things our children do, while we take for granted the many kind and unselfish things they do. In response to an article of mine in this column several months ago, in which I related kind and thoughtful deeds of children reported to me by their mothers, this came from a Virginian mother:

7. WSTV, Death Valley Days: When handsome Jerry Fryer and his buddy Frank Miller arrive in the sleepy Arizona town of Casa Grande, Jerry is immediately attracted to lovely Pauline Cushman, ex-Union spy.

8. KDKA, WSTV, Rawhide: "Incident Of The Pied Piper". An orphanage operator finds some of Gil Favor's herd after they are scattered by a storm and sells them to a banker in the naive belief that they are strays.

8:30. WJAC, WTRF, WIIC: Dr. Kildare: "Onions, Garlic and the Flowers That Bloom in the Spring", with guest star Cesar Romero. Kildare finds himself in the midst of a family feud when he takes over the practice of a general practitioner who is ill.

9. KDKA, WSTV, Perry Mason: "The Case of the Bountiful Beauty." A 20-year-old author of a best - selling novel is accused of killing the principal character of her book to avoid a libel suit.

10. WJAC, WTRF, WIIC, Suspense Theater: "My Enemy, This Town." A paroled convict invades the social circle of the wealthy girl who was responsible for his imprisonment.

11:15. WTAE, Movie: "Broken Arrow", starring James Stewart and Jeff Chandler.

"JUST TODAY, our three-year-old Lee, fell out of his bed and our four-year-old, Kathy, promptly helped him up and into the bed with me (we all have to share the same room as we live with my parents while my husband is overseas) and ran for a 'cold rag' — her panacea for everything from a hurt finger to hurt feelings. Then she stuck by him until she was sure he was going to be all right.

"Then a few months ago our two-year-old, Randy, was coming down the stairs with a bowl when Lee saw him and went up to him. He took the bowl from Randy, then took his baby hand in his and helped him down. When they got to the bottom of the stairs, Lee returned the bowl to his brother. And don't think all this went unappreciated. For Randy said, 'Thanks, Lee!'

"These are my fondest memories. All entries in my 'Kindness Scrapbook'."

In another letter from a mother in Florida came this: "Dear Dr. Myers, I have a little story you may be interested in in connection with your article on the unselfish child.

Philippine and American leaders joined in tribute to the old warrior who led barefooted peasants in independence campaigns, twice against Spain and once against the United States.

Aguinaldo's body was to lie in state at his home on the south shore of Manila Bay, where he proclaimed Philippine independence and the first Philippine republic on June 12, 1898. Later it may be taken to the presidential Malacanang Palace.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete, but the family said burial would be at the Manila Bay home.

Ever use bouillon instead of water in preparing buckwheat groats? Extra flavor results!

"When our daughter was in third grade, she came home from school one spring day and told me with tears in her eyes that one of her friends would not get a new dress for Easter.

"I HAD JUST finished making hers and she liked it very much. It was a simple dress with a very full skirt. Her friend's family had to accept help from the Salvation Army and the little girl might get a second-hand dress, but my daughter wanted her to have a new one.

"She selected the material and a pretty flower to pin at the waist. The spanking new dress was quite nice but Martha was not entirely happy.

"She asked with childish innocence, 'Mother, couldn't we get a stand-out slip like mine for Janie?' We did, and without letting any of the other children or the teacher know, she gave the dress and slip to her little friend.

"The girls attend different schools now and may have forgotten the incident. I never shall."

"These are heartwarming accounts; you and I would like to read more of the same.

My bulletin, "The Very Selfish Child," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

City Ministers Arrange Services Launching Lent

The public relations committee of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association, with the Rev. John Clark, pastor of the First Methodist Church, as chairman, has outlined the schedule for Lenten and Holy Week services.

The schedule was presented at a meeting of the association Monday in the St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The First Methodist Church will be host for the union noon-day services and lunch every Thursday during the Lenten season — Feb. 13, 20, 17 and March 5, 12 and 19.

Lunch will be served from 11:45 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., followed by services. Another lunch will be served from 12:55-1:30.

Good Friday services will be held March 27 from noon to 3 p. m. at the St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Easter sunrise services will be held at the First Church of Christ at 6 a. m.

Speakers for the events will be announced later.

The Rev. Edward J. Phinn, pastor of the Grace United Presbyterian Church, asked for the group's assistance in the Good Friday services held by ministers of the East End.

area. Suggestions were accepted and definite action will be worked out later.

Rev. Clark, who also serves as chairman of community affairs, announced that the ministers will continue to participate in the invocation during Council sessions and Board of Education meetings.

Paul Blair, superintendent of schools, attended the meeting to explain to the ministers the procedure of setting up dates for activities at the school. He was introduced by the Rev. Charles Kampmeyer, host pastor.

The ministers have been concerned about the conflict of weekend dates of activities by the school, especially the choir schedule. Following a clarification of the situation by Supt. Blair, a better understanding was reached, according to the association spokesman.

The Rev. Joseph Varner, hospital chaplain, thanked the group for its part in supporting his trip to the recent pastors' convention in Columbus.

Business was conducted by the Rev. Albert Rodenhausen, pastor of the First Baptist Church, association president. Rev. Phinn gave the invocation. Next meeting will be March 2.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: My big 54-inch, round dining room table was quite a problem to find a table-cloth for (most round cloths are about 60 inches) until I started watching bedspread sales in the newspapers.

Now, when I find a suitable color, type cloth and pattern, I buy a bedspread, cut it down to 72 inches, and make my own! Best of all, they are very, very easy to wash and iron, good material and so inexpensive. Bedspreads come in many types of materials and colors. Plaids, solids, rough weave, smoothed textures.

ELIZABETH OLSEN.

Watch your ads gals. This newspaper is full of 'em.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: You and your correspondents have my eternal gratitude for the suggestion about using cotton gloves inside of rubber gloves.

For years my nails have been horrible because I simply could not wear rubber gloves. The unlined ones get slimy inside and my lined ones get smelly after awhile. Both kinds develop a horrible clammy feeling after they have been worn a short time.

LACKING any old gloves that could be diverted for the use,

I bought a pair of knitted cotton "cosmetic gloves" in our drug store. They don't look like much but they are very absorbent, dry quickly when washed and are quite inexpensive. I paid less than 30 cents for mine.

G.M.

DEAR HELOISE: I have discovered that cut cheese will not dry out if the cut surface is spread with a thin coat of softened butter (margarine would do).

MRS. K. T. DRENNON.

DEAR HELOISE: But why . . . you may ask . . . won't people cut off the information they find interesting so that it will be available to them when they need it? I don't know why . . . human weakness, no doubt?

MARIE.

How true, how true! Please cut out what interests you or what you think you might use later.

Marie has the right idea.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Having four children I use quite a few cans of vegetables.

I like to brown my vegetables in bacon drippings or butter in a pan so I have lots of juice left over. . . .

I keep a large pitcher in the

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW, EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO

refrigerator and drain all the vegetable juices into it. I use this juice later for gravy, soup (home made and for diluting canned soup), instant potatoes, etc.

And did you know that you could use this leftover vegetable juice for softening the dog's cat's food?

MRS. MARTHA WILSON.

No, I did not. I often pour off the juice or brine and never thought of using it for this purpose. Thank you Martha.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Paste silver polish works beautifully in removing water lines and film from glasses.

Just take a dampened cloth or sponge, dip in the paste and rub those stubborn rings. Wash thoroughly with hot suds, then rinse with hot water and polish with a dry towel. Your glasses will shine beautifully.

2-IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORY OF beloved father and husband Joseph L. Buben.

With sadness we recall

You had a kindly word for each

And died beloved by all.

The voice is mute and still the heart

The loved us well and true.

Ah, bitter was the trial to part

From one so good as you.

You are not forgotten loved one

Nor will you be

As long as life and memory last

We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore

As time goes by we miss you more

Your loving smile, your gentle face.

ANSWER: The firing of these guns was a salute, a way of paying the greatest possible honor to President Kennedy. A salute is a gesture of recognition and respect. Salutes originated in early days when a person of lesser rank would deliberately disarm himself before a superior, to prove his humility and obedience. Extending one's hand for a handshake, in those days, proved there was no sword in it; taking off your hat to someone meant taking off your steel helmet. In the same way, when an oldtime ship or fort shot off all or most of its cannon, it showed it was helpless for a while, since it took quite a time to reload. The top picture shows an old time ship which carried so few guns that to shoot off 21 of them would greatly reduce its fighting power. So originated the 21 gun salute, this number of guns being set to honor heads of state and royalty — it was called the "royal salute". The custom has come down to us; we also use salutes of 19, 17, 15, 13, 11 and 5 guns, to honor less important people. The reason for the odd numbers is said to be that old time seamen considered even numbers unlucky.

FOR YOU TO DO: Think a minute — is the 21 gun salute the greatest number we ever fire? If you thing so, you are wrong; on July 4 the salute to the union is fired, one gun for each state. Here, we are not saluting any one person, but a whole nation.

Christine Goryl of Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

Lausche And Young
Vote Opposite Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Sens. Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young, both Democrats, were on opposite sides of the voting ledger again Wednesday as the Senate defeated two tax measures.

Young voted for and Lausche against:

The proposal to repeal present federal excise taxes on jewelry, handbags, cosmetics and furs.

An amendment to the tax bill which would have increased the proposed new standard minimum deductions to give tax relief to low income families.

6 Governors To Meet

CLEVELAND (AP) — Six governors are to meet here Friday to map final plans for the 1964 governor's Conference, set for June 6. They are James A.

Rhodes of Ohio, Frank G. Clement of Tennessee, John H. Reed of Maine, Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana, John Anderson Jr. of Kansas and Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey.

In Serious Condition

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — Ladelar Moody, 33, of Lordstown (Trumbull County), Ohio, is in serious condition at a hospital here as a result of injuries suffered in a traffic accident. She was a passenger in a car that collided with a tractor-trailer Wednesday near here. The car driver, Jim Devincenzo of Warren, Ohio, was treated for cuts.
